SENATOR MORGAN

Introduces a Joint Resolution to Recognize Cubans.

AN UNCONDITIONAL MEASURE

Resolution Declares a State of Public War Exists Between Spain and the People of Cuba — Members of the Senate Have Expressed Their Willingness to Support a Joint Resolution.

SATURDAY, March 21.—Just before adjourned Senator Morgan, reported the Cuban resolution, and has from the start taken a prominent part in the senate debate relative to the recognition of the Cuban independence, introduced the following joint resolution:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, That it is hereby declared that a joint resolution introduced between the Senate and the people of Cuba, expressing a desire to support a separate government and the union of the Republic of Cuba with the state of belligerency between said nations is hereby recognized.

The significance of the resolutions is that it is a joint resolution instead of a joint resolution, and that it is confined to a recognition of belligerency prior to a recognition of a state of war exists.

Senator Morgan said in reply to a question, that it was his purpose to affect those who objected to the concurrence of the original senate and house resolutions and had expressed a desire to support a joint resolution, and to make good their promises.

The resolution was, at Mr. Morgan's insistence, allowed to lie on the table and not referred to the committee on foreign relations. His purpose in seeking this disposition of the resolution without delay, was that he will try to call it up on any regardless of the concurrent resolutions now before the senate on the difference report, and that he hopes it can be passed with but little difficulty.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

Strong Force of Insurgents Now Down the Spanish Troops.

HAVANA, March 21.—A detachment of the Madrid battalion, numbering 500, at Guanabacoa, Pinar del Rio, had 400 of their number sent to Santa Fe to act as a convoy for provisions. Shortly afterward they left Santa Fe and a numerous band of men appeared carrying the Spanish banner, shouting "Viva Espana."

They rapidly approached the column, but some merchants who were with the troops perceived that they were insurgents and detected the stratagem. They informed the commander of the detachment, who warned his troops to be in readiness. They waited until the insurgents were 20 paces off, when they fired by volleys.

The insurgents were taken by surprise and shouting "Al amanecer," confident in their superior numbers, they fell upon the troops, machine in hand, and killed nearly all the troops, enough escaping, however, to tell the story.

The central committee of the Reformation party, which numbers 40, was called to meet, but only eight responded, including the vice president, Rabell Ambard, five editors of the Diario de la Marina and Manuel Herrerio, a storekeeper. The rest failed to respond, as they consider that the Reformation leaders are responsible for dividing the Spanish elements of the population.

The revolution, they assert, has failed to benefit the country and is dictated only by personal interests. It is claimed that the rural wealth of Cuba, representing $150,000,000, only pays 4 per cent of the revenues, while the business and industrial interests, all old Spanish, pay the rest. At the same time all have representation in congress.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

The National House Censures Ambassador Bayard.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The first resolution, being that censuring Ambassador Bayard, was passed by the house by a vote of 180 to 7, five Democrats voting for it and three Republicans against it. Messrs. Cummings of New York, Bailey of Texas, Latimer of South Carolina, Sorg and Layton of Ohio, and Cockrell of Texas voted with the Republicans for the resolution, and Messrs. Cook of Illinois, Draper of Massachusetts, Pitney of New Jersey, Willis of Delaware, and Baker of Maryland voted with the Democrats against it.

The second resolution, which expresses the general opinion that foreign representatives should not make political or partisan speeches, was adopted by the house—190 to 59.

BAYARD DECLINES TO TALK.

LONDON, March 21.—Ambassador Bayard says he does not desire to talk on the resolution of censure passed by the United States house of representatives.

Allen contended that Dupont was entitled to a seat in the senate, and that he was not a credit or a discredit to the state or creditable from the execution of the state, and that when this was lacking, as in the case of the state could control a name of the creditable by the government.

Mitchell and Chandler called attention to the fact that senators now sit in the house who did not hold creditable from the governor, and Mr. Mitchell sarcastically said that this creditable Mr. Allen as the best man in the senate, but Mr. Allen vigorously maintained his position.

Mr. Mitchell was recognized to speak in the senate, but the senator from the state had declared the opponents of resolution had not been heard, and he therefore declined to take the floor at this time, and that those opposed might proceed.

Gorman moved that when the senate adjourned on Monday, Mr. Sherman, a large of the Cuban resolutions, objected to the fact that the senate should, in his opinion, be adjourned, and the senate could be disposed of sooner, or a committee be appointed for taking a vote on them next week. Mr. Allen agreed with Mr. Gorman and said for more time for the discussion of the question. After some discussion Mr. Sherman's motion prevailed by a vote of 42 to 38.

RESOLVED

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC AND Stomach & Liver Cure

the Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.

It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from disease. It performs this by the great nerve tonic qualities it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a worn down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period of change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will then constantly over the danger. This great strengthener and curative of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great curative properties will give them new hold on life. It will add ten years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen of the remedy each year.

IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF NERVOUSNESS.

Broken Constitution, Debility of Old Age, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Heartburn and Sour Stomach, Weakness and Tenderness in Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Frightful Dreams, Dizziness and Ringing in the Ears, Weakness of Extremities and Fainting, Impure and Impoverished Blood, Boils and Carbuncles, Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Ulcers, Consumption of the Lungs, Catarrh of the Lungs, Bronchitis and Chronic Cough, Liver Complaint, Chronic Diarrhea, Delicate and Scrofulous Children, Summer Complaint of Infants.

All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nervine Tonic.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and safe, in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most infirm individual. Nine tenths of all the ailments to which the human race are heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion.

When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, the state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments pass as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the sufferer for want of perfect nutrition.

Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves the reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. South American Nervine Tonic is a great nerve tonic, and its effects are so wonderful that I can assure you that it is the greatest remedy in the world for nervous diseases. If every one who uses it does not say that I am not telling the truth, I will give you a full refund of your money.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Aug. 20, '86
"Great South American Medicine Co."
Please be so kind as to send you one of the bottles of the stomach and nerves. I tried several in the last year, but nothing done me good until I was advised to use the Great American Nervine Tonic, and I have been cured of all my diseases. I can assure you that I am not telling the truth, and if you will not believe me, I will give you a full refund of your money.

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

FRANKFORT, Ind., June 22, 1887.
daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitas' Dance, and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitas' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.

DIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic

we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever offered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of ills and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience of many go to prove that this is the one and only great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no disease of the stomach which can resist the curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

Mr. ELLA A. BRADSTREET, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I love to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood, am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance I had down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am sure it is the best medicine in the world. I have never had it so high."

He compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the nerves. No remedy will at all compare with the Great American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure the nerves.

The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic is enough that I was able to add a few drops to my water, and it is the best medicine in the world. I have never had it so high."

A STORY OF WEATHER

WHY THE MONTH OF MARCH IS OFTEN BLISTERING AND STORMY.

Some Facts About Weather Changes—Cold Currents from the North and Warm Ones from the South—Effects of Magnetic Force.

March impresses itself upon the dweller in the northern half of the United States as a particularly windy and disagreeable month, with strong alternations of wintry and mild weather. This is due to the breaking up of the conditions that have prevailed since December and the processes of return to spring and summer. There is in the arctic zone an enormous amount of cold material to be disposed of, covering the northern regions in the form of ice and snow. At the same time the southern zone is becoming decidedly warmer in consequence of the advance of the sun to the northern side of the equator.

The United States is peculiarly the theater of this contest between the giants of cold and heat, and they stagger back and forth over this territory as one or the other is for the time being in the strongest form. The cold waves launch themselves from the north and carry their icy chill to the warm southern states; or, on the other hand, the warm currents of air from the south advance far into the north, and this alternation causes a rapid variation in the temperature and the other weather conditions at stations of the middle latitudes.

An examination of the storm tracks for March gives very definite evidence of the effect of this struggle for supremacy. Instead of being confined to the neighborhood of the main tracks, it is found that they spread out over the entire territory of the United States from north to south. The phenomenon of looping southward along the Rocky mountain slope before recurring northward to the gulf of St. Lawrence is most pronounced.

The storms which first develop in Alberta or on the north Pacific coast may advance directly eastward over the lakes to the gulf, or they may be pushed south and receive in Colorado, Missouri, southern Illinois or southern Indiana, in order to move to the St. Lawrence valley, or else they may be propelled still farther south along the Rocky mountain slope to Texas and the gulf coast, whence they proceed to the south Atlantic coast, and then turn northward to Newfoundland.

Not a few of these storms dissipate in the lake region or the Ohio valley; others will persist in a path of nearly 5,000 miles, from Alberta to southern Texas, South Carolina and finally to Newfoundland. The unequal distribution of the tracks of the storms in March is therefore due to the irregular propulsion of cold masses of air from the arctic regions into the middle of the North American continent.

A peculiarity of continental action is that in summer the interior is warmer than the borders, but in winter the interior is colder than the coasts. The upper lake region and the upper Mississippi valley are especially remarkable for this feature. Between the 95 degree and 100 degree meridians, and between parallels 50 degrees to 55 degrees, the change in temperature is the greatest known in North America; it is colder in winter there, and also it may become the hottest part of the country in summer; the range of temperature may be from 45 degrees below zero in winter to 105 degrees above zero in summer, a range of 150 degrees. The encroachments of spring upon the winter in North America proceed from the extreme southwest, the gulf of California and the Colorado river valley, and advance toward the northeast.

This leads to a description of one of the most characteristic features of the advance of the summer upon the North American continent. In winter the lines of equal normal temperature, that is, the isotherms, are grouped about the cold pole in quite a symmetrical manner, bending southward in the interior as they pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. This configuration may be regarded as normal from November to March inclusive. In the summer the formation is somewhat inverted, the lines bending northward from the coast toward the interior, though the crest is now farther west in the dry Rocky mountain region. The gulf of California is the central region of heat, and the crest extends from Yuma, A. T., northeastward toward the Dakotas.

The magnetic force seems to be efficient in producing meteorological effects in proportion as it can operate in cold atmospheric conditions. Hence the encroachment of warm air from the southern Rocky mountain districts, as spring comes on, is unfavorable for this kind of action, and it seeks to transfer its seat to the portions of the interior of the continent that still retain low temperatures, namely, to the Hudson bay districts. Finally, as the summer heat covers this cold territory, the winter high passes away entirely, and the whole arctic region is covered by low pressure.

The unsettled weather of the month of March, especially in the northeastern portions of the United States, with its rapid alternations of warm and cold winds, often reaching considerable violence, is, therefore, the paring salutes of the cold winter that has prevailed for five months throughout the northern cap. A most impressive feature of this change, as deduced from close study of the barometers and thermometers readings of the weather bureau, is the suddenness with which the struggle is concluded in the northwest, for March often comes in with a very violent action, and this is almost certain to end about the 20th of the month with moderate movements of the air. The struggle is prolonged in the east, but is usually about over by the 10th of April.—Written for the Marion Daily Star by the United States Weather Bureau of Washington.

And the girl said, with a toss of her giddy young head: "No, indeed. He is mighty small potatoes down here. But we get the name and the salary, just the same, and it sounds big at home." But the gentle wife only looked pained and said, "Daughter!" in a remonstrating kind of way, and leaned over the gallery, absolutely the only person in all that vast room who seemed to bear a word the little man was saying.

A TALE OF A RING.

How a Leap Year Girl Saved Time by the Very Forks.

At 9 o'clock last Saturday evening Algernon stood at the front door of the house of the girl he loved, but to whom he dared not say the word.

For a long time he had been sparring for points, but to the bashful these things do not appear in a clear light, even though they clearly exist.

He had rung the bell once, twice, thrice, but there had been no answer.

Nervously he stretched forth his hand to ring again when the door was opened by the one being in all the world who made his life worth living.

"Why, Algernon," she exclaimed, "if I had thought it was you I wouldn't have kept you standing out in the cold so long."

He thought of how he had been standing out in the cold and wondered when the courage would come to him to go in out of it.

"You know," she continued as she drew him inside and closed the door, "that the servants are out tonight, and some of the family have to answer the front door."

This leads to a description of one of the most characteristic features of the advance of the summer upon the North American continent. In winter the lines of equal normal temperature, that is, the isotherms, are grouped about the cold pole in quite a symmetrical manner, bending southward in the interior as they pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. GREAT TURF BATTLE.

HORSEMEN EAGERLY LOOKING FOR WARD TO THE BELMONT.

Enger Discussion as to the Merits of Requital, Handspring and Hastings, the Three Favorites—Likely to Prove an Exciting Race—Will Be Run Early in June.

Racing men in all parts of the country are taking a special and exceptional interest in the Belmont stakes for 3-year-olds, which will be run at Morris Park, New York, early in June. Among the colts which are expected to start in the Belmont are Requital, Handspring and Hastings. Colonel Thompson bought Requital at the auction sale of David Geddie's horses last autumn and paid a big price for him. Requital was not only the winner of the great Futurity stakes, but also of the Flatbush stakes at seven furlongs, and proved clearly that he was a colt of remarkable merit, speed and staying power. The sons of Colonel Thompson will keep up the racing stable in the most generous and liberal manner, and Requital will have a great number of friends and admirers when he goes to the post for the Belmont.

Nervous

People often wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily;
why they start at every slight but sudden sound; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and

Palpitation of the Heart.

The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood which is continually filling the nerves upon return instead of the elements of strength and vigor. In such condition opiate and nerve compounds simply do not and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla does the nerves pure, rich, and blood; gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, self-control, vigorous health, and is the true remedy for all nervous trouble.Hood's SarsaparillaIs the true Blood Purifier. Starts for imperfections in the blood. Lowers blood pressure. Eats easy to take, easy to operate.

TOWN TOPICS

The present month Lon Barlow completed his twenty-eighth year in the Huber company and the present company's predecessor in business.Ever since Lon has been a citizen of Marion he has been connected with the present company or with the old firm of Huber, Green & Company.In mentioning the matter the other evening to a party of friends, Lon
brought up the matter of the old band
in which he sometimes played tuba
but generally winded the baton and then called up that steering organization
of twenty years ago, the "Marion Star Hook and Ladder company," which beat everything with which it contested.Mr. Barlow stated that he believed that every member of the old company was alive and that he had received word from several out of the city that they would like to come back to Marion and hold a reunion.It is quite probable that a reunion will be held this summer and if it is the old truck will be brought over from Kenton and the boys will give our citizens a sample run.It is hardly probable that Jim Lutz, Patsy Kelly, Harry Apt, Milt Dice, Jim
McMurray, Lou Cunningham, Lon
Barlow, Irene Frazer, Dick Raleigh,
Chas. Kroener, Charles Terpany, Harry Spicer and Jim Bryan can run as in the old days when they were the glory of Marion, and Bryan would want an hour to climb a ladder, now, but yet it would be an interesting thing to see the old boys in motion and would receive a thousand memories of an old but golden past when Marion stood at the top in athletic exercises.Not long since a lady went into a local stove dealer's store to purchase a hard coal stove.The dealer showed several stoves,
among which was a second-hand stove
the original price of which was $50 but which he would sell for $25, saying that he knew nothing about it but that it appeared to be all right.The lady bought the stove but it was a sad disappointment. She could chuck it full of coal and get the fire burning and yet sit beside it and freeze.In despair she was about to throw it away when the happy thought came to her that coal didn't cost any more than ice and that she could put it away and use it this summer for a refrigerator,
and so at one home there will be a demand for coal until winter comes again.The Columbian orchestra has recently added traps, chimes and a xylophone
to the orchestral pickups for the purpose of making such an orchestra as will be acceptable to the management of the new opera house.Manager Poock is making every effort to get the orchestra up to the highest standard of proficiency and is determined to give all opposition a hard run to secure the opera house engagement.The Grand orchestra is making like strides and the rivalry cannot help but improve the players as well as give us a couple of Al orchestra.The Cycle Gazette, of Cleveland, of March 19, prints a fine cut of Fred Sehrin on its title page.The cut shows Sehrin mounted with his trainer at his side.Sehrin will be remembered as the rider that carried off so many honors
at the bicycle tournament held at this place last year.He is present has made the best Class A standing start, unpaced, threeeighths mile on record, 40 seconds, and his time of 9:28 for four miles is the world's Class A record in competition.The Hocking Valley railroad company is making arrangements to run an excursion train from this city next Friday evening to hear Paderefski at Columbus, where he plays under the auspices of the Arion club. The train will arrive in ample time for the performance and will leave in return soon after the show. The scale of prices for the show is gallery $1.50, balcony $2.00, and lower floor $3.00.The perpetrator of Town Topics noted with much satisfaction last night that quite a large number of the handsome ladies in attendance at the Star Entertainers' performance at the Y. M. C. A. hall, removed their hats before the opening number of the program and kept them off during the entire performance.Under these circumstances it enabled those sitting behind them to have an unobstructed view of the stage and at the same time evidenced the fact that the arrangement of their dresses had been looked to before coming to the show.

The Public Will Be Received at the Y. M. C. A. Building Monday.

The public reception to be given at the Y. M. C. A. will occur Monday night. It was to have been this evening, but it has been postponed until Monday night in order that all may attend. The doors of the building will be thrown open, and it is expected that a large number will visit the building. Entertainment will be afforded the guests, both in the auditorium and the gymnasium. This is given in order that the citizens may become acquainted with Mr. Pierce and have an opportunity of getting better acquainted with the workings of the Y. M. C. A. The soliciting of subscriptions is still continuing and the amount will no doubt be raised. Many new members are being added to the rolls.

COMMENCED WORK.

The Construction of the New Bottling House Commenced Friday.

The Marion Brewing and Bottling company commenced work on the new bottling house Friday. The bottling works will be located just across the tracks from the main buildings of the brewery. It will be but a short time until the bottling house will be completed, and then it is the intention to bottle beer.

There is already a large demand for bottled goods and the company want it on the market for spring. The brewery will very likely bottle two brands of their goods.

MARY A. ROBERTS' SEEKS A DIVORCE
FROM WESLEY ROBERTS.She Accuses Him of All Manner of Mischief and Says He Tried To Kill Her With a Stick of Wood--A Story of Marital Bliss.Mary A. Roberts, by her attorneys, Johnston & Young, this morning filed in the court of common pleas a petition in divorce against Wesley Roberts.Mrs. Roberts' petition is somewhat lengthy but, among other allegations, she states that she was married to the defendant June 29, 1895, and at the time of her marriage it was agreed that her little daughter, aged two years, should make her home with them.In accordance with this agreement
she took her daughter with her to her husband's home but his treatment of the child was so heartlessly cruel and his language to her and in her presence so vulgar and obscene that she was compelled to remove her to her. Mrs.
Roberts', parents' home.Prior to the marriage, so she says,
the defendant had promised to deed
her eighty acres of land and agreeable to her contract he did convey to her eighty acres, retaining a life estate to himself.Since that time, however, he has wanted her to join in a deed for the land with him and to convey it away which she naturally refused to do.That he has assisted about the marriage and endeavored to compel her to do so and has been greatly angered; that she did not comply with his demands.She says there is nothing which she could do which she did not do to please him in the matter of looking after his clothes and linens, in her housekeeping and in her cooking, but that he has treated her with uniform meanness and in addition to his abuse of her has taken the nuts off the spindles of the buggy when he found that she was about to visit her child, and thus made her walk five miles through all kinds of weather to see her daughter.He has, she says, used all kinds of vulgar and obscene language toward her and has threatened her life and said he would kill her did he not fear a hereafter of weather to see her daughter.On several occasions he has impugned
her virtue and made every manner
of vulgar remarks to her, and on March 12 took a stick of wood and, catching her, would have killed her had not the stick of wood struck the ceiling and saved her.She then left his house and went to her parents' home and had to take two men along with her to protect her when she went back to get her clothing and certain articles which belonged to her before her marriage with Mr. Roberts, out many of the latter articles she refused to give up.She asks for alimony pending suit
for divorce, for alimony and for all proper relief.

THE TIC TAC'S

Held a Hard Times Smoking Concert Last Night.The members of the Tic Tac club, and about a dozen guests of the club, held a hard times smoking concert at the Tic Tac quarters in the Bennett building, Friday night.A literary and oratorical program had been prepared and was carried out in part but the pipes and "baccy" used was a little too strong for some of the members and they had to go out, as they said, to arrange their poverty to-lets.Quite a nice layout of refreshments
was served, and a very, very merry time had by the boys, but it is safe to say that at the next smoking concert
they will lay aside their pipes before it is necessary to use an ax to break a way through the curling blue smoke.

BIG RAILROAD CONTRIBUTION.

Hon. Samuel Lewis a Conservative Legislator. New School book Law. Caring for the Streetcar Men. Do We Really Need a New Constitution? Prospect of an Early Adjournment.

Constituents of March 11. Special to Wm. H. Lewis. He was a representative from Delaware county, packed his valises and started for the capital January 22, but in connection with him he carried his constituents to no less than three new laws, but to no avail to prevent a law from being made. And the instruction had been faithfully followed. Indeed it was unnecessary, for Mr. Lewis is opposed on principle to the early adjournment of the bill. To believe that one-half of all the statutes today on the books could be wiped off and the state still have more than enough to make the people good and prosperous. There is a good deal of hard common sense in the practical application of this gentleman and it is safe to say that in that right to make a beast of himself is one of the privileges of which an American citizen can not be deprived.

The working home for the blind, which I funded down a year and a half ago will not be rebuilt, but providing for its reconstruction having been defeated. It was the most expensive measure, according to the number of inmates, in the state and was regarded by the members of the general assembly as worse than useless.

The evils of gypsy and tramp camps can now be ended, a bill having passed both houses which makes it unlawful for that variety of travelers to camp on public or private property for more than one night, unless consent is first obtained from the owner of the land occupied.

The present satisfactory schoolbook law expires by limitation this year, and another, substantially the same, has been introduced to take its place. The provisions, in a word, are that all school book publishers desiring to sell their books in this state shall place sample copies in the hands of the state commissioner or common schools, accompanied by a price list. Not more than 75 per cent of the wholesale price shall be paid for the books by boards of education or dealers handling them, and purchases shall be made at an advance of not more than 19 per cent over the price at which the books are bought from the publishers. It is provided that after a year of education selects the book to be used in the schools under its jurisdiction, no change shall be made for five years.

Since the street railway companies have succeeded in breaking up every organization of street railway employees, the men have been having a hard time of it earning an honest livelihood. They have been subjected to all manner of cruel impositions by the companies, a rental of which would have the effect of recalling the old time of slavery, except that the streetcar men are being worked as never slaves were. Thirteen hours a day is a mighty long time for a man to stand on either the front or the rear platform of a car every day in the week, but when he is compelled to do service for as many as 18 hours a day, toads together being allowed 11 minutes for meals, the practice of the streetcar officials becomes nothing short of brutal. In order to remedy this, Senator Brown has introduced a bill empowering the railroad commissioner to place a proper limit upon the hours of labor of these workmen, and also empowering him to compel the companies to open enough cars to serve the public sufficiently.

There is some prospect of a constitutional convention. Mr. Laning's resolution introduced in the senate, which authorizes the voters to dispose of the question whether there shall be one, has passed that body, and there is a reasonable assurance that it will receive the favorable action of the house. So far every member of every legislature that has met for the last 10 years has wanted the constitution changed, but for the life of me I do not see that there is anything wrong with the one we now have. The state seems to be doing pretty well under it. The legislature has ample power to regulate and punish crime and provide for the welfare of the public, so what is the use of a change? One thing the constitution does that I believe is proper—it limits the power of the legislature, and they have been legislating which needed to be limited.

The name of Mr. Garfield is associated with one of the most important election laws on the books. It places a limit upon the amount that a candidate for a public office may pay out during a campaign to secure his election. In brief, the law, which is of immense length, provides that no candidate for office, in order to secure his nomination or election, shall expend money in excess of a sum to be computed on this basis: One hundred dollars for every 5,000 voters, $1.50 for every 100 voters over 5,000, and $1.00 for each 100 voters over 25,000 and under 50,000. This money is to be for all purposes, not alone for campaign assessments, but also for such incidental as buying cigars and things for the boys purchasing church fair tickets and all such. Candidates for judicial offices may spend only $50 during a campaign.

The prospect for repealing the tax-instructor law is very slim indeed. The only folks want the deed done, but the country members have not yet been able to make themselves believe that there is any impropriety in making the million and tax dodger of the big cities pay his taxes, even though unusual methods have to be resorted to.

The saloon men are having another attack of shakies. Senator Avery has introduced a bill which provides that when one-fourth of the electors of a municipality petition council, that body must provide for a vote on the question of prohibiting saloons within the corporate limits.

It begins to look as though the legislature might adjourn by April 20, the time fixed in Mr. Fleischmann's resolution which passed the senate this week.

HARRY MINER.

Valor or Luck.

A curious bill is that which is before the senate through the efforts of Mr. Thompson. It seeks to provide a way for certain Indians by sending them to a state or federal institutions, the proceeds to be taken by county commissioners for the purpose of a state tax. It is possible that the cost of each Indian will exceed $100. But suppose it does not cost so much. Many of the Indians are in a state of semi-captivity or semi-slavery, to take the gold in California and to add to the power of the country. It can pass laws, but it can not prevent gold from being paid if they want to be.

REFORM IN THE INDIAN BUREAU.

Secretary Hole Smith Believes In Politics Uncle Sam's Wards to Work—the Department to Be Taken Out of Politics New Methods.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—[Special] One of the most important bills now pending in congress is one designed to effect great reforms in the management of the Indian bureau. Sec. of the Indian bureau, Mr. Hole Smith of Indiana, believes in politics.

"Well, Stevens, how do you feel over your defeat?"

"Feel shaped back Stevens, I feel like the poor man at the rich man's gate, who was barked by the dogs."—Washington Post.

Not to be trifled with, in Cincinnati connected.

Well people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied. There is no knowing where the trouble will end, and while complete recovery is the rule, exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little iniquitous ex-noue and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are today countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "cold," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern and were therefore neglected.

—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by L. H. Flocken, Druggist.

Asking a favor.

It having been the custom in a certain establishment in the north to pay the workers fittingly, and the workmen having found the system somewhat inconvenient, it was decided to send a club to the head of the firm to state their grievance. An Irishman named Dan O'Farrell for his sagacity and personal qualities, was selected for the task. He duly waited on the master, who addressed him thus:

"Well, Dan, what can we do for you this morning?"

"It is plain, sir, I've been sent as a delegate by the workers to ask a favor of ye to regain the payment of our wages."

"Yes, and what do they desire?"

Asked the master.

"Well, sir, it is the desire of myself, and it is also the desire of every man in the establishment, that we receive our fortnight's pay every week."—Tit-Bits.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself." Flocken's drug store.

Thought She Understood.

"Did I understand you to say," said the Boss's lady to the art critic, "that what Mr. Van Dubbles' picture needs is a square?"

"Yes."

"Ah, then I began to understand a remark made by Mr. Van Dubbles which was hitherto unintelligible."

"About this picture?"

"Yes." He said he wished he could think of some way to raise the wind on it. —Washington Star.

Soothing, healing, cleansing. Dr. Wilt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. Flocken's drug store.

Consulting the Properties.

"No, Maria," said Mr. Unruh, "I won't have any east of arms on my carriage, and that's all there is about it."

"But folks'll make remarks if we don't."

"Well, they'll make remarks if we do."

"But don't you think that men who have had some success in life are expected to make some display?"

"Oh, yes, and I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll have my initials, all twisted together, fastened on the carriage, and then all that anybody can say is that Cumruh has got his money grand on his coach, which'll be just about the fact of the case." —Washington Star.

A Woman's Reason

It always a good reason, even if it is not always fully explained. Give her the money to buy the groceries. She will always go where she can buy the best for the least money. Some men carry the money in their pockets and give the wife the pass-book, then kick because their grocery bills are so high. Give your wife the POCKETBOOK. She will buy her groceries for CASH and save 10 to 20 per cent on all her purchases.

The Lecturer Leaves Town.

F. H. Harper, the Ben Hur lecturer, has left the city, but was obliged to borrow money to get out of town. Marshal Blain this morning attached the rest of his outfit, but at the request of Rev. Lester, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., the man was not arrested. He secured the views and entire outfit by representing that he would pay so much each month on it.

This he never did and the parties lost all track of him. Postal cards were issued and sent to the police over the country where Ben Hur tribes were located. Harper and his partner, S. D. Long, were found here, and the outfit taken away from them. This morning Marshal Blain shipped it back to Ft. Wayne.
